TATIANA

Old World Charm, World Class Food, World Class Entertainment

On New Year's eve, just a few months ago a return to the great restaurant era of Florida returned with the opening of Tatiana. Old-timers in Florida should remember Martha Raye's Five O'Clock Club, the Boom-Boom Room, Les Violins, and the standing room crowds they drew on a nightly basis. The clubs were great, the food great, and words could not describe the first class entertainment.

Elegance and European charm are only two words that describe what owners Tatiana and Walter have brought to Hallandale Beach, only a few streets down from Gulfstream Race Track. As you enter the restaurant you see the plush decor in the foyer leading to the dining room. A showcase filled with Faberge eggs welcome you to a world of elegance you will not forget. When entering the dining room you can not help staring in awe at the display of tables that will hold more than 600 guests for dining, the fixtures that seem to be coming from a palace setting. The balcony upstairs is set for private parties and overlooks the dance floor and stage. You are welcomed into an old world charm that has been missing and needed here. To describe the shows one would have to say Vegas style, Moulin Rouge, with a bit of Cirque Du Soleil thrown in. There is no way to describe Tatiana in one page and so each month we will concentrate on giving you a glimpse of everything Tatiana has to offer from brunch, to lunch, to dinner, to music and to the fabulous shows.
